

Royal Phuket Marina Voted 'Best Waterfront Development' in Cityscape Awards for Asia Real Estate

(Phuket, Thailand, May 21, 2010) – Thailand's world-class luxury lifestyle community Royal Phuket Marina (RPM) was the recipient of another prestigious regional award for its unique waterfront properties, and in particular, the new 'Aquaminium' apartments.

RPM was voted 'Best Developer – Waterfront Development' at the 2010 Cityscape Awards for Real Estate in Asia.

The annual awards, presented in Singapore on May 19, recognise outstanding real estate development in Asia.

RPM's luxury Aquaminiums are a new concept in marina living, uniquely featuring private 'drive-in' boat berths, as well as sumptuously designed and appointed interiors.

They have been snapped up by investors, setting a record price for condominium sales in Phuket.

Royal Phuket Marina's Luxury Waterfront Villas were also honored at the awards for showing strong architectural design, coupled with the unique ability to moor ones yacht at the foot of your garden.

"We are thrilled to receive this prestigious award, we feel this is marina living at its best and the popularity of our properties reflect that, many people are choosing to make this their permanent home" said RPM founder Mr Lalvani.

Cityscape Asia's group Exhibition Director Graham Wood said this year's winners demonstrated the "strong commitment to progress the real estate sector in Asia, with a strong push towards incorporating sustainable features into building design".

Phuket's boating scene was further enhanced this month when the island received for 'Best Asian Maritime Capital' in the Asia Boating Awards 2010.
